

Annette Bauer

The London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE)
Personal Social Services Research Unit (PSSRU)

SOCIAL SERVICES, HEALTH CARE AND THIRD SECTOR RESEARCH An economic perspective from the United Kingdom

Thursday 16th April Masaryk University, Faculty of Economics and Administration, Academic Club

Research studies and methods employed by PSSRU

10:00 - 11:30	The Personal Social Services Research Unit (PSSRU) - Brief introduction
	Organisational structure, research areas and themes, programmes and initiatives
	Research studies and methods employed by PSSRU
	Topic: Personal budgets, Method: economic evaluation
	Topic: Perinatal mental health, Method: cost of illness, decision modelling
11:30 - 13:00	Lunch
13:00 - 14:00	Topic: Advocacy interventions for parents with learning disabilities, Method: examining economic consequences using a case study approach
	Topic: Long-term care finance, Method: Macro-simulation
14:00-14:30	Coffee break
14:30-16:00	Topic: Community capacity building, Method: decision modelling using primary data
	Economic methods in third sector research, brief overview

Friday 17th April Masaryk University, Faculty of Economics and Administration, S401, Floor 4

Economic Aspects of Third Sector Research in the United Kingdom

11:00 - 12:30	An overview over historical and recent developments including its relationship with the public sector
	Economic principles and methods relevant to the third sector
	Methodological and practical challenges of measuring economic impact in the third sector
	Examples of measuring third sector impact from an economic perspective

INVESTICE DO ROZVOJE VZDĚLÁVÁNÍ